

Continuing Education Requirements for New Mexico Licensed Social Workers (And How to Stay on Track)

As a licensed clinical social worker (LCSW) in the state of New Mexico, it is your responsibility to adhere to continuing education requirements each period in order to renew your license. Beyond license renewal being key to you maintaining your practice, continuing education is essential to stay abreast of what is happening in your field – something your clients will always appreciate you taking seriously. Education is how we all continue to learn and further hone our skills and expertise, so it's certainly something to be celebrated. Though education is fantastic, keeping on track with the many hours you need to fulfill can be a challenge. Thankfully, there is a fantastic resource available to help you with that. Before we dive into the resource, let's start by outlining what is required of New Mexico LCSWs in order to renew their license.

Licensee Requirements for New Mexico Licensed Social Workers

In the state of New Mexico, licensed clinical social workers are required to complete 30 hours of continuing education every two years. All of those hours must be earned by the June 30th expiration date in a licensee's renewal year (if they wish to continue their practice in the next cycle). Within the required 30 hours, at least six need to be specially on the topic of cultural awareness. Note: though proof of continuing education certificates is not required with all renewal applications, it may be requested by the board if a licensee is being audited. Licensees should always upkeep all documentation of their continuing education credit due to the potential of an audit.

Key Takeaways:

- New Mexico LCSWs must complete 30 hours of continuing education every two years.
- Six hours need to be on cultural awareness.
- Licenses expire on June 30 in renewal years.

Given licensed social workers are likely to achieve their continuing education certificates in increments, from various workshops, conventions, agencies, and institutions, there is a lot of documentation to keep track of (potentially 30 or more certificates throughout the course of two years). As proof is required if you are selected for an audit by the board, it's imperative you keep all of those certificates in a safe place – easily accessible and easy to track your progress.
