

Continuing Education Requirements for Texas Licensed Social Workers (And How to Stay on Track)

As a licensed clinical social worker (LCSW) in the state of Texas, it is your responsibility to adhere to continuing education requirements each period in order to renew your license. Beyond license renewal being key to you maintaining your practice, continuing education is essential to stay abreast of what is happening in your field – something your clients will always appreciate you taking seriously. Education is how we all continue to learn and further hone our skills and expertise, so it's certainly something to be celebrated. Though education is fantastic, keeping on track with the many hours you need to fulfill can be a challenge. Thankfully, there is a fantastic resource available to help you with that. Before we dive into the resource, let's start by outlining what is required of Texas LCSWs in order to renew their license.

Licensee Requirements for Texas Licensed Social Workers

Licensed clinical social workers in Texas are required to complete 30 hours of continuing education every two years. For simplicity's sake, all licenses expire on the last day of each licensee's birth month, so it's easier to remember when the continuing education deadline is for your license. Within the required 30 hours of continuing education, a minimum of six hours must specifically relate to ethics in the field. With regard to the ethics requirement, licensees can earn their credit by being either a participant or a presenter on the subject. As a note, LCSWs can only count up to 15 hours of teaching toward their full 30 hours requirement, so any remaining hours need to be earned through training programs or courses offered by an approved sponsor.

Key Takeaways:

- LCSWs in Texas must complete a total of 30 hours of continuing education.
- Six of the 30 hours are required to be specifically regarding professional ethics.
