

Continuing Education Requirements for West Virginia Licensed Social Workers (And How to Stay on Track)

As a licensed clinical social worker (LCSW) in the state of West Virginia, it is your responsibility to adhere to continuing education requirements each period in order to renew your license. Beyond license renewal being key to you maintaining your practice, continuing education is essential to stay abreast of what is happening in your field – something your clients will always appreciate you taking seriously. Education is how we all continue to learn and further hone our skills and expertise, so it's certainly something to be celebrated. Though education is fantastic, keeping on track with the many hours you need to fulfill can be a challenge. Thankfully, there is a fantastic resource available to help you with that. Before we dive into the resource, let's start by outlining what is required of West Virginia LCSWs in order to renew their license.

Licensee Requirements for West Virginia Licensed Social Workers

All licensed clinical social workers in the state of West Virginia are expected to complete 40 hours of continuing education every two years in order to renew their license. One of those 40 hours must be in ethics and two in mental health conditions common among veterans and their families. For added flexibility for licensees, up to 20 hours can be obtained through approved online courses and 20 hours can be earned through individual personal activities (with no prior Board approval). The remaining 20 hours must come from approved providers, which are defined here.

Key Takeaways:

- One hour needs to be in ethics and two in mental health for veterans & their families.
